

KAIKOURA DISTRICT COUNCIL

Kaikoura District

(Signs) Bylaw

Flow Chart for Assessment for a Sign Permit

PART I INTRODUCTORY

1. TITLE

This bylaw may be cited as the Kaikoura District (Signs) Bylaw 2009.

2. COMMENCEMENT

This bylaw shall come into force on the 1st day of January 2009. It was amended on 23rd February 2010. It was further amended on the 10th of December 2011.

Bylaw prepared under section S145 of the Local Government Act 2002 and s684 of the Local Government Act 1974.

3. SCOPE

The purpose of the bylaw is to ensure that signs are erected, maintained and displayed in a manner that does not present a hazard or a danger to public safety. The bylaw is also to ensure that the amenity values of the District are maintained and enhanced.

Note: New Zealand Transport Agency as a road controlling authority has its own bylaws for the control of signs on State Highways. However a permit issued by Council is required for all signs erected on the State Highways unless authorized under Part III of the Kaikoura District Signs Bylaw.

4. PURPOSE

The purpose of signs and other forms of outdoor advertising is to convey information to the public. Although signs are essential throughout the District for the information they provide to the public, they have the potential to cause adverse environmental effects, particularly in respect of transport safety and visual amenities.

The ability of the environment to accommodate signs varies considerably between commercial, residential and rural environments. The greatest concentration of outdoor advertising is in commercial areas where signs are necessary for business promotion. However, in residential and rural areas, where the maintenance and enhancement of amenity values are important, the potential adverse effect of signage is of greater significance.

Signs and outdoor advertising have the potential to adversely affect traffic and pedestrian safety. They could be placed in inappropriate locations or be of inappropriate sizes, forms or designs and may distract drivers. The potential adverse effects of signs on traffic safety are most significant on roads such as State Highway 1 where the potential for traffic accidents is significant due to higher traffic volumes and speeds.

Section 32 of the Resource Management Act allows effects of activities to be controlled by means other than rules in a District Plan. A signs bylaw on its own is considered the most effective and efficient way of controlling adverse effects of signs. A bylaw allows effects of signs to be adequately controlled through a permit system, while avoiding the additional time and expense involved in the resource consent process.

Advertising signs are restricted in the bylaw to sites on which they relate except for special events. This is to avoid proliferation of signs along the margins of roads and adjacent to intersections. However, New Zealand Transport Agency has a policy of providing for tourist and motorist service signs at appropriate locations on state highway reserves to advertise qualifying activities which are remote from the highway.

Signs located on footpaths have the potential to impede pedestrian access. In particular, signs located on footpaths in the West End commercial area have the potential to have adverse effects on pedestrian safety due to the number of businesses and the number of people using the footpaths in this area. For this reason A-frame or sandwich board signs require a permit under the Signs Bylaw.

The number, size, form and location of signs are therefore controlled in all areas, under the Signs Bylaw.

PART II INTERPRETATION

5. DEFINITIONS

A. In this bylaw, unless the context otherwise requires:

Above Ground Floor Sign is a sign placed in or on a building above the ground floor area.

Access Way has the same meaning as in Section 315(1) Local Government Act 1974 which states:

Access way means any passage way, laid out or constructed by the authority of the council or the Minister of Works and Development [or, on or after the 1st day of April 1988, the Minister of Lands] for the purposes of providing the public with a convenient route for pedestrians from any road, service lane, or reserve to another, or to any public place or to any railway station, or from one public place to another public place, or from one part of any road, service lane, or reserve to another part of that same road, service lane, or reserve.

Advertising Face Area (AFA) In the business zones and Kaikoura Peninsula Tourism Zone, the AFA shall be taken as the total exterior wall area facing in one direction on any side of a building as shown in figure 1. Each AFA shall be seen as one sign for the purpose of fees although it may contain more than one type of sign (for example an AFA may have a veranda sign and an above ground floor sign).

AFA will be either a primary or secondary face area. Each building will have one AFA which will be seen as the primary face area as nominated by the applicant and the rest of the AFA's shall be secondary face areas. If a building face is below the road it faces, only the area of the building above the road level will be used to calculate the advertising face area as shown below in figure 2. If more than one business shares a building, each business frontage shall receive a share of AFA proportional to the area that the business occupies within that advertising face area. Please see section 6. Determining the Measurements of All Signs to calculate the area of the signs within an AFA.
